ANGELS HISTORY

Seeking radio rights for his Golden West Broadcasting firm, Gene Autry headed for the American League expansion meeting in St. Louis on Dec. 6, 1960 and returned as Chairman of the Board of the Los Angeles Angels.

During the ensuing 18 years, the Angels have played in three "home parks," enjoyed growing success at the gate, produced numerous highlights on the field and, at last, are on the verge of success in the standings.

The club enjoyed its finest season ever in 1978, winning more games—87—and coming closer to the pennant—second place tie, five games behind—than ever before. A club record 1,755,386 home attendance figure was fourth best in the league and prospects indicate another banner season in 1979.

A bit of tradition was established when Jim Fregosi, the club's former six-time All-Star shortstop, was appointed manager on June 1. He guided the team to a 62-54 record through its first prolonged pennant fight. Fregosi became the club's eighth manager, following in the footsteps of Bill Rigney, Harold "Lefty" Phillips, Del Rice, Bobby Winkles, Dick Williams, Norm Sherry and Dave Garcia.

E. J. "Buzzie" Bavasi has embarked on his second season as Executive Vice-President. He was hired on Oct. 24, 1977 and was preceded by Fred Haney, appointed Dec. 8, 1960; Dick Walsh, hired Sept. 23, 1968; and Harry Dalton, appointed Oct. 27, 1971.

The Angels played their first game in Los Angeles at Wrigley Field on Apr. 27, 1961; made their debut at Dodger Stadium on Apr. 17, 1962; and became known as the California Angels after moving to Anaheim and opening the Big-A on Apr. 9, 1966 (an exhibition game). The first A.L. game played at the Big-A was Apr. 19, 1966.

Heroes have been plentiful. Colorful southpaw Bo Belinsky tossed the first Angels no-hitter, defeating Baltimore, May 5, 1962; outfielders Albie Pearson and Leon Wagner and righthander Ken McBride were in the starting line-up for the A.L. All-Stars in '63; Fregosi set virtually every club career offensive record; Dean Chance was the Cy Young Award winner for all of baseball in 1964; Alex Johnson won a batting title on the final day of 1970, hitting .329; Mickey Rivers stole 70 bases in 1975; Bobby Bonds tied Wagner's club home run mark with 37 in 1977; Nolan Ryan has established major league records in almost every strikeout category, including most in a season (383 in 1973) and has tossed four no-hitters; Frank Tanana earned the A.L. earned run average crown in '77; and Dave LaRoche was runnerup in the league's "Fireman of the Year" standings last year.

In an all-out effort to bring a pennant to Orange County, Autry has entered the free agent market full force the past three Novembers, signing seven players—Don Baylor, Joe Rudi, Bobby Grich, the late Lyman Bostock, Rick Miller, Tom Griffin and Jim Barr. He also acquired seven-time A.L. batting champion Rod Carew in a trade with Minnesota.

Chairman of the Board and President GENE AUTRY

For 18 years, from the formative days at Wrigley Field through the transient seasons at Dodger Stadium to a sparkling new home in Anaheim, Angels' players to a man have voiced the desire: "Let's win it for 'the cowboy'!"

Batboys, publicity directors, secretaries, general managers, ticket sellers and peanut vendors, everyone in the organization shares the dream: "Wouldn't it be nice to win a pennant for Mr. Autry?"

Gene Autry—"the singing cowboy" . . . frustrated ballplayer . . . Chairman of the Board . . . patient fan . . . free spending owner . . . philanthropist . . . business tycoon. All the tags apply but he still would like another: "pennant winner."

The Angels came closer than ever in 1978 and prospects are good for another try in 1979. In almost 100 feature films Gene Autry never kissed the girl, so he displays patience while waiting for Dame Fortune to smile upon his baseball team.

Everything else Autry has touched has turned to success. Legend has it he was discovered by Will Rogers while picking at his mail-order guitar in a railway station in Oklahoma. A telegrapher by trade but a baseball player at heart ("I could hit good, but I wasn't very fast"), Autry parlayed his musical abilities, wholesome image and insatiable appetite for work into an entertainment career known worldwide.

He began on radio in Tulsa with a 15-minute show, billed as "Oklahoma's Yodeling Cowboy." From there he went to WLS in Chicago for the "Farm and Home Hour" for four years. In 1934 he went Hollywood, making his first film for Republic Studios.

For eight consecutive years, Autry was voted top box office western star and three times he was among the Top Ten stars of all categories. His first recording, "That Silver-Haired Daddy of Mine" was on its way to sales of five million records. And thanks to the insistence of wife Ina, with whom he celebrated anniversary No. 46 in 1978, Autry recorded the Christmas classic, "Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer."

After a stint in the Army Air Corps during World War II, Autry realized his performing career was not endless so he looked to business investments. Call it a Midas touch, good horse sense, business acumen or pure luck, Autry made the right decisions and hired the right people. In 1961 he was in a position to purchase a major league baseball team on the spur of the moment.

"I went to the American League expansion meetings in St. Louis looking only for broadcast rights," said Autry.

In a whirlwind four months, Autry and partner Bob Reynolds assembled a roster, general manager (Fred Haney) and field manager (Bill Rigney) and opened the season with a victory.

"My most memorable moment in baseball always has been the Angels' first game," Autry recalled. "We beat the Orioles back in Baltimore in 1961 with Big Klu (Ted Kluszewski) hitting two home runs and Eli Grba doing the pitching."

Autry still keeps tabs on his Golden West Broadcasting Co., and other business operations, but baseball remains his passion.

"With baseball, I sleep like a baby," he confessed with a smile recently. "I wake up and cry for awhile, go back to sleep, wake up and cry a little more."

Executive Vice President E. J. 'BUZZIE' BAVASI

Less than two months after his Oct. 27, 1977 appointment as Executive Vice President of the California Angels, Emil J. "Buzzie" Bavasi engineered a pair of controversial trades in an effort to make the Angels serious pennant contenders.

Bavasi's brash maneuvers sent California's 1977 MVP Bobby Bonds to Chicago and team captain Jerry Remy to Boston in exchange for a trio of pitchers—Chris Knapp, Dave Frost and Don Aase; catcher Brian Downing and outfielder Rick Miller.

The moves drew sharp criticism at the time, but Bavasi, a former Major League Executive of the Year (1959), didn't allow sentiment to cloud sound judgment.

Thanks in great part to those deals, the Angels enjoyed the best season in their 18-year history, although Bavasi was far from satisfied with his maiden effort in the American League. Bavasi was active again this past winter, acquiring Rod Carew and Dan Ford in trade from Minnesota and Jim Barr in the re-entry draft.

Controversial trades have been the trademark of Bavasi during a career which spans more than 50 years in the game at almost every administrative capacity.

On Dec. 4, 1958, following a seventh-place finish by the Dodgers, Bavasi sent outfielder Gino Cimoli to the St. Louis Cardinals for righthander Phil Paine and a .238 hitting outfielder named Wally Moon. All Mr. Moon did was to fashion a .302 average, a league leading 11 triples, 19 home runs and 74 runs batted in for the pennant winning Dodgers of 1959.

Bavasi's favorite trade was consumated on Apr. 8, 1960 when he sent infielder Don Zimmer to the Chicago Cubs for southpaw Ron Perranoski, a pair of minor leaguers plus an undisclosed amount of cash. Perranoski developed into the premier reliever on the Dodgers' staff. And Zimmer? He was reacquired three years later for a minor league pitcher.

During 18 years as Vice President and General Manager of the Dodgers, Bavasi's teams won four World Championships and eight pennants. With expansion, Bavasi accepted the challenge of building a new team as part owner of the embryonic San Diego Padres in 1969.

Born in New York City on Dec. 12, 1915, Bavasi graduated from DePauw University in 1938. He married the former Elizabeth Evit Rice and they have four sons—Peter (President of the Toronto Blue Jays), Chris, Bob and Bill.

The Manager . . .

11 JAMES LOUIS FREGOSI

AGE: 36, turns 37 on Apr. 4
BORN: 4-4-42 in San Francisco, CA
RESIDES: Anaheim, CA
HT.: 6-2 WT.: 205
BATTED & THREW: Right
MARRIED: Janet Bennett, 12-10-61
CHILDREN: Jimmy, Jennifer
APPOINTED: June 1, 1978

During the final week of the 1978 season, manager JIM FREGOSI held brief one-on-one meetings with each of his players. He told them, among other things, in what areas he felt they could show improvement.

No fanfare. No big deal. Just another low key approach to instill pride and build a winning tradition for the Angels, two pivotal points he promised in assuming the managerial control of the team last June 1.

Under Fregosi's leadership the Angels enjoyed the best season in the club's 18-year history, winning more games—87—and finishing higher in the standings (a second place tie, five games behind) than ever before.

"The thing is that you build pride first, then you win games and then after you win, tradition starts," said Fregosi. "The Angels have always had a tradition of not playing well. But once we win, we will have that tradition and it makes for kids growing up wanting to be an Angel."

Fregosi's fiery leadership created an aura of Angel mania among the fans, who attended in record numbers, and the media.

Allan Malamud, sports editor of the LOS ANGELES HERALD EXAMINER, said: "Nominations are now open for American League Manager of the Year. Our choice is Jim Fregosi. Ask any Angel, and he'll second it. Fregosi is in total control of the situation . . . For the first time ever in Anaheim, the athletes actually are taking some pride in putting on the uniform."

Joe Hendrickson, columnist for the PASADENA INDEPENDENT STAR-NEWS offered the following: "Jim Fregosi looks and acts like a manager. He represents the good of the Angel past. I truly believe he is a managerial talent . . . Fregosi has turned out to be a bundle of enthusiasm. He has the Angels stimulated. They want to play and they are eager to excel. Jim combines seriousness with an its-fun-to-play approach."

Fregosi views his youthfulness—at 36 only the Chicago White Sox' Don Kessinger is a younger manager—as an asset.

"I like to think that I'm close to my players, but I think they know that I'm the boss and I'm going to do whatever it takes to win a game. Sometimes you have to hurt players' feelings because a lot of times players don't know what's best for them and the team. This is the case because every player in the big leagues has a great deal of pride in himself, and to be a good player you have to have that pride. Now, what I try to do is keep the player with pride in himself and magnify that pride in the team. I think if you get that feeling, the players go about the game with a winning attitude."

Former manager Bill Rigney, currently a special assignment scout for the Angels, feels very strongly about Fregosi's chances for success.

"He made himself into a darn good player. Now I think he's going to make himself into a darn good manager," said Rigney. "He has the character and that's what it takes. He has a quick mind, dedication and a good sense of humor. He's going to pick some brains but he's going to be his own man. You can bet on that."

As an Angel shortstop, Fregosi holds virtually every club career batting record.

Fregosi won the Angel Owners' Trophy, symbolic of the Most Valuable Player, three times; was an All-Star selection six times; was a Gold Glove shortstop in 1964 and was voted the all-time greatest Angel in 1969 by the fans.

His major league career spanned 18 seasons. He compiled a .265 lifetime average.

Fregosi originally was acquired by the Angels on December 14, 1960 in the expansion draft from the Boston Red Sox.

ELWOOD ROBERT CLEAR

AGE: 51
BORN: 12-14-27 in Denver, CO
RESIDES: Carson, CA
HT.: 5-9 WT.: 170
BATTED & THREW: Right
MARRIED: Emily Williams, 11-1-47
CHILDREN: Jay, Matt, Justin
APPOINTED: 7-23-76

Coaching first base is only one of three positions BOB CLEAR holds with the Angels.

Clear, entering his 34th season in baseball, is a scout and instructor in the off season. Based out of his Carson home, he surveys local amateur products and conducts weekend sessions for rookies in the Angels' system at Savanna High School in Anaheim.

Clear joined the major league coaching staff in July, 1976, after scouting from 1969 to 1975. During that period he also served as a roving minor league instructor.

Originally an infielder, Clear switched to pitching in 1946. He won 20 or more games three times in his 19-year minor league playing career.

As a minor league manager of 18 seasons, Clear's clubs won pennants at Douglas (Arizona-Mexican League) and at Idaho Falls (Pioneer League). At Douglas his team accomplished one of the most unusual home-run feats in baseball history. On Aug. 19, 1958 vs. Chihuahua, every man in the starting lineup, including pitcher Clear, hit one—and only one—home run.

Prior to joining the Angels, Clear worked within the Cleveland, St. Louis and Pittsburgh organizations.

27 DERON ROGER JOHNSON

AGE: 40, turns 41 on July 17
BORN: 7-17-38 in San Diego, CA
RESIDES: Poway, CA
HT.: 6-2 WT.: 210
BATTED & THREW: Right
MARRIED: Lucia Ann DeMaria, 10-20-62
CHILDREN: Deron, Dominick, Anthony
APPOINTED: 10-30-78

For 16 seasons and with nine major league clubs, DERON JOHNSON was one of the most feared righthanded power hitters in baseball. He hit 245 home runs and drove in 923 runs and now hopes to impart some of that magic on the Angels of 1979 as the club's hitting instructor.

Johnson guided the club's Triple A affiliate at Salt Lake City of the Pacific Coast League last year in his managerial debut. The Gulls posted a 72-65 record and finished second in the Eastern Division.

"D.J." retired as a player on June 4, 1976. His major league career began in 1960 with the New York Yankees and he went on to play with Kansas City, Cincinnati, Atlanta, Philadelphia, Oakland, Milwaukee, Boston and the Chicago White Sox before finishing up with the Red Sox.

Johnson's best season was 1965 when he led the National League with 130 runs batted in and hit 32 home runs for Cincinnati. He hit a career high 34 roundtrippers in 1971 with the Phillies. He played first and third base and the outfield.

At Oakland in 1973, Johnson helped the A's to their second world championship with 19 home runs and 81 RBI in only 131 games. He batted .300 in the World Series vs. the New York Mets.

1 ROBERT FRANK KNOOP

AGE: 40
BORN: 10-18-38 in Sioux City, IA
RESIDES: Yorba Linda, CA
HT.: 6-1 WT.: 185
BATTED & THREW: Right
MARRIED: Darlene Antoinette, 2-2-57
CHILDREN: Christie
APPOINTED: 10-30-78

The appointment of BOBBY KNOOP as third base coach for Jim Fregosi reunites the Angels' Golden Glove double play combination of the mid-1960's.

Knoop ranks just behind Fregosi in many of the Angels' career batting departments and is the only four-time winner (1964-66, '68) of the Owner's Trophy, symbolic of the club's outstanding player. He won three Gold Gloves for his fielding wizardry at second base in 1966-68.

This is Knoop's second return to the organization for which he played six (1964-69) of his nine major league seasons. He managed the Quad Cities club to a first-place finish in the Midwest League in 1975 and El Paso to a runnerup spot in the Texas League the following year.

The past two seasons he was third base coach for the Chicago White Sox.

Knoop holds the major league record for most double plays in a nine-inning game by a second baseman (6 on May 1, 1966) and most putouts in a game (12 on Aug. 30, 1966). He shares several other major league marks including most games in a rookie season (162 in 1964).

The Milwaukee Braves originally signed Knoop but lost him in the minor league draft of 1963. Knoop was traded to Chicago on May 14, 1969 for infielder Sandy Alomar and pitcher Bob Priddy. The White Sox sold him to Kansas City where he completed his playing career in 1972.

Toss in a few years as a fancy fielding second baseman with the New York Yankees (1930-31) and St. Louis Cardinals (1932) and 13 minor league seasons and you have a thumbnail picture of the 61 years in baseball for JIMMIE REESE.

At age 73, Reese remains active as a conditioning coach for the pitchers. A master of the "fungo" bat, Reese can hit the ball with more accuracy than most men can throw. Before a frightening line drive or two, Reese used to "throw" batting practice with his pampered bat.

A favorite among the players (Nolan Ryan named his second son after him), Reese also delights the media by reminiscing about former roommate Babe Ruth.

MARRIED: Sally Swearingen, 12-27-56
CHILDREN: Suzanne, Scott
APPOINTED: 10-30-78

When the Angels' pitching coach position became vacant last Fall, it didn't take a genius to discern that LARRY SHERRY was a leading candidate for the job.

Sherry was a former roommate in Pittsburgh and teammate in Aneheim with manager Jim Fregosi, he formerly was employed by Executive Vice President Buzzie Bavasi for six years with the Los Angeles Dodgers and he certainly was experienced after two years as the Pirates' pitching coach, three seasons as Pittsburgh's minor league pitching instructor and four years as a minor league manager.

Sherry, the younger brother of former Angels manager Norm Sherry, won a spot in southern California sports history in 1959, when he was selected the Most Valuable Player in the World Series. He appeared in four games, winning two and saving two as the Dodgers defeated the Chicago White Sox in six games.

Sherry pitched six seasons for the Dodgers (1958-63) before going to Detroit (1964-67) and Houston (1967). He finished his major league career in 1968 with the Angels, appearing in three games.

46 DONALD WILLIAM AASE RHP

AGE: 24, turns 25 on Sept. 8
BORN: 9-8-54 in Orange, CA
RESIDES: Garden Grove, CA
HT.: 6-3 WT.: 195
BATS & THROWS: Right
ACQUIRED: From Boston Red Sox with undisclosed amount of cash in exchange for Jerry Remy, 12-8-77.

Although he is only 24 years old and has less than a year and a half of major league experience, DON AASE is developing into a "money" pitcher.

He was the club's most effective starter during the September pennant effort, twice beating Texas and once conquering Kansas City in his first three assignments of the month. Overall last year he was 5-1 against the Angels' toughest divisional foes. Including the Yankees, he was 6-1 with an earned run average of 3.58.

Perhaps Aase's performance in the clutch should come as no surprise. His major league baptism came in 1977 when he produced a 6-2 record for the Boston Red Sox, all in the heat of an Eastern Division pennant chase.

Aase was the third winningest Angel pitcher in 1978 with an 11-8 record. He got off to a slow start, posting only a pair of victories prior to June 16 when he began a string of five wins in six starts.

"Coming home to Anaheim after the trade from Boston (for Jerry) Remy), I think I started out the year trying too hard," said Aase, a product of Savanna High School. "It took me awhile to settle down and get into my normal groove. I was rushing everything and trying to throw too hard."

Aase was willing to listen to advice, an attribute noted throughout his career.

"Whatever you told Don to do, he went out and did it," said Jim Reach, the prep coach of Aase and Kansas City's Al Hrabosky. "Because of this attitude, Don is where he is today. A lot of players won't listen to the coaches or managers."

Aase won six of eight decisions at Anaheim Stadium, where he had hurled his first major league shutout for Boston on July 31, 1977, a three-hitter. His most impressive outing of 1978 was his first shutout as an Angel, a four-hit win over Toronto on July 13.

The first Orange County born Angel, Aase entered his name on the local tax rolls when he became a Garden Grove homeowner this winter. Remodeling the house and duck hunting occupied his winter.

Aase was drafted on the sixth round of the June, 1972 free agent draft by Boston. After an 0-10 debut at Williamsport he responded with a 17-8 mark at Winston-Salem in 1974 to earn Carolina League "Pitcher of the Year" honors.

Tendinitis problems plagued him in 1975 and 1976, but he was a durable performer for the Angels in 1978, never missing a start.

22 WILLIE MAYS AIKENS 1B

AGE: 24
BORN: 10-14-54 in Seneca, SC
RESIDES: Seneca, SC
HT.: 6-2 WT.: 220
BATS: Left THROWS: Right
ACQUIRED: Angels' No. 1 selection in January, 1975 free agent draft.

Powerful WILLIE AIKENS continued to devastate minor league pitching in 1978 and the Angels are hopeful this might be the year he is ready to make the permanent jump to Anaheim.

The 24-year-old slugger from Seneca, SC led the Pacific Coast League with 29 home runs while driving in 110 runs, six shy of the league leader. His batting average of .326 was in the Top Ten and particularly encouraging was his strikeouts (55) to walks (77) ratio. He was selected the TOPPS Chewing Gum Player of the Month for July in the PCL.

Aikens received a brief trial with the Angels in 1977, batting .198 in 42 games, primarily as a pinch or designated hitter.

Aikens collected a bevy of awards in 1976 for his season at El Paso. He was TOPPS' Texas League Player of the Year; Double-A Player of the Year by vote of the National Sportswriters Association; and the recipient of the Kenny Myers Memorial Award as the outstanding player in the Angels' system. His statistics included a .317 batting average and league leading figures of 30 home runs and 117 runs batted in.

Aikens, born during the 1954 World Series and named by the delivering physician after the Giants' Willie Mays, attended South Carolina State College and won all-NAIA honors. When the school dropped its baseball program, he became eligible for the January, 1975 draft and was the second player in the nation to be chosen.

AGE: 22
BORN: 2-23-57 in Los Angeles, CA
RESIDES: Granada Hills, CA
HT.: 6-0 WT.: 170
BATS & THROWS: Right
MARRIED: Melodie Weimer, 10-1-77
ACQUIRED: Angels' No. 2 selection in June, 1975 free agent draft.

Young JIM ANDERSON is anxious to throw his glove back into the tussle for the regular Angels' shortstop job.

"I thought I played well defensively last year and showed them I could play in the major leagues," said Jim, recalled from Salt Lake City on July 2. "I was disappointed with my hitting (.194), but feel it was merely a case of not making the mental adjustment. I also was in and out of the lineup, which is something I had never experienced in the minor leagues."

Anderson played in 48 games, alternating with Dave Chalk down the stretch after Rance Mulliniks had been optioned to Salt Lake. All three are in the picture for 1979.

To enhance his chances, Anderson undertook an extensive conditioning program during the winter and even gave up snow skiing to concentrate on his game. He played the second half of the Venezuelan League schedule for Caracas to sharpen his tools for spring training.

Anderson has a lifetime minor league batting average of .274. His best streak for the Angels came Sept. 6-8 when he went six-for-11 with three doubles against the Rangers and Royals.

AGE: 30, turns 31 on Apr. 30
BORN: 4-30-48 in Stamford, NY
RESIDES: Oneonta, NY
HT.: 6-6 WT.: 215
BATS: Left THROWS: Right
MARRIED: Kathleen Curtin, 2-8-75
CHILDREN: Matthew, Andrew
ACQUIRED: From Houston's Memphis club with Terry Humphrey in exchange for Ed Herrmann, 6-6-76.

Lanky MIKE BARLOW saw plenty of action in 1978 at Salt Lake City, contributing to nearly one-third of the Gulls' 72 victories. The 6-foot-6 righthander posted a 6-5 record and saved 17 games, third best figure in the Pacific Coast League.

Barlow joined the Angels in September but saw game duty only once, working two innings against the Texas Rangers in the second game of a Sept. 6 doubleheader.

In 1977, Barlow finished strong for the Angels, winning four games in September-October. He logged a dazzling 1.99 earned run average and even picked up a victory as a starter, working seven innings and allowing only two hits in a 4-1 win at Kansas City on Oct. 1.

48 JAMES LELAND BARR RHP

AGE: 31
BORN: 2-10-48 in Lynwood, CA
RESIDES: San Mateo, CA
HT.: 6-3 WT.: 215
BATS & THROWS: Right
MARRIED: Susie Austin, 10-3-69
CHILDREN: Emmy
ACQUIRED: Selected in re-entry draft and signed, 12-3-78.

High on Angels' Executive Vice- President E. J. (Buzzie) Bavasi's shopping list last winter was a righthander for the bullpen who could pitch effectively in short relief.

Via the re-entry draft, the Angels signed veteran JIM BARR of the San Francisco Giants to a multi-year contract.

"He has outstanding ability and together with Dave La Roche, gives the relief staff excellent balance," said Bavasi.

For Barr, the 31-year-old eight- year veteran, moving to southern California represents a homecoming.

A native of Lynwood, Barr graduated with a degree in business administration from the University of Southern California.

While a member of coach Rod Dedeaux's Trojans, Barr teamed with Dave Kingman, Steve Busby, Brent Strom and Steve Sogge while helping the Trojans to a pair of NCAA World Series triumphs in 1968 and 1970.

Barr has worked as both a starter and reliever with a heavier emphasis on the former.

Last season he pitched in both capacities, posting an 8-11 record with a 3.53 ERA.

"Barr's acquisition fills a major void for us," echoed manager Jim Fregosi. "Dave La Roche needed help last year. He shouldn't have had to pitch that much.

"There were a lot of times where I could have used a righthander who could get the ball over the plate. Jim's not afraid to come into those situations. He's a gutsy type player."

Barr has a mutual respect for Fregosi, too.

"He's no stranger to me, having pitched against him throughout my career," said Barr.

"He's young enough to relate to all the players and he understands what it takes to make a winner."

Barr produced his finest season in 1974, when he was 13-9 with a pair of saves and a 2.74 ERA, seventh best in the National League.

He owns the major league record for retiring 41 consecutive batters (21 Pirates and 20 Cardinals) on August 23 and 29, 1972.

Barr also pitched consecutive shutouts vs. Montreal and Philadelphia following the All- Star break in 1977 to win SPORTS ILLUSTRATED "Player of the Week" honors for July 24-30.

He was the Giants' No. 2 pick in the summer draft of 1970, behind Kingman.

Since joining the Angels, Barr has purchased a home in Orange for his family which includes wife Susie and daughter Emmy.

25 DON EDWARD BAYLOR 1B-OF

AGE: 29, turns 30 on June 28
BORN: 6-28-49 in Austin, TX
RESIDES: Austin, TX
HT.: 6-1 WT.: 195
BATS & THROWS: Right
MARRIED: Aronetta Jo Cash, 6-3-70
CHILDREN: Don, Jr.
ACQUIRED: Selected in re-entry draft and signed 11-16-76.

The pivotal figure in the Angels' offensive arsenal last season was part-time outfielder and prime-time designated hitter DON BAYLOR.

Recipient of the Owner's Trophy, awarded by a vote of the players to the individual who most truly exemplifies the qualities of inspirational leadership, sportsmanship and professional ability, Baylor collected a career high 34 home runs and 99 runs batted in. He finished seventh in the American League MVP balloting, the highest finish by an Angel in club history.

There was a remarkable switch in sentiment by Angels fans for their new hero.

Two years ago owner Gene Autry plunged heavily into the free agent market, making millionaires of three players—Baylor, Joe Rudi and Bobby Grich in hopes of bringing Orange County fans a winning ball club.

Crippling injuries to Rudi and Grich curtailed whatever pennant aspirations the Angels may have had and although he hit 25 home runs accompanied by 75 rbi, Baylor bore the brunt of frustrated fan reaction.

"I can't believe how much more relaxed everything was in 1978," said Baylor. "I put too much pressure on myself when Rudi and Grich got hurt in '77. I tried to do even more. I was the visible target for the unhappy fans. It was pretty sad.

"You really have to credit our coaches for my improvement. They told me to quit worrying about everything and just do the best job I could. They told me to be the best designated hitter I could and when I did get a chance in the field, to do the best I could. It all sounds very simple, but it helped my confidence."

The new-found confidence was demonstrated by a highly productive .290 average at Anaheim Stadium which included a club record 21 home runs.

In addition to personal highs in homers and rbi, Baylor played in more games, scored more runs and totaled more hits than in any other season of his career.

The 29-year-old slugger, who had asked to be traded in mid-June, later had a change of heart.

"Jim Fregosi has handled the situation better than the two previous managers. He has told me the truth, that I'm a designated hitter. They lied to me.

"I'd like to play a little more in the field this year. Rudi is 32 now and will be able to use some rest. I want to stay here. We're only a couple of positions away from being a contender year after year."

Fregosi has nothing but admiration for the talented Texan whose hitting has produced some of the most vicious line drives seen in recent years.

"I do think it's important that every club has a leader among the players," Fregosi stated. "Baylor can fill that role on our club."

Baylor was most productive last season against defending division titlist Kansas City, hitting .351 with three home runs. He now has 15 lifetime homers vs. the Royals, more than against any other club. Baylor also topped the .300 mark against Cleveland (.333) and Seattle (.309) while compiling a .317 average vs. left handed pitching.

After completing the second year of a six-year contract, Baylor already has crept into the Angels' top ten in home runs (5th) and stolen bases (8th).

When he isn't giving encouragement to youngsters on the team, Baylor can be found lending aid to another group of young people—those stricken by Cystic Fibrosis.

"It's a bad feeling seeing a kid with Cystic Fibrosis. When you see a young person in that kind of shape you realize how lucky you are."

Baylor served as Orange County Sports Chairman for the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation Association. During the past winter he promoted the Don Baylor Cystic Fibrosis Golf Tournament, which netted a handsome check for the worthwhile charity.

AGE: 23, turns 24 on May 12
BORN: 5-12-55 in Houlton, ME
RESIDES: El Toro, CA
HT.: 6-0 WT.: 195
BATS & THROWS: Left
MARRIED: Tracy Schroeder, 2-4-78
ACQUIRED: Selected in June, 1974 free agent draft.

A disabling shoulder injury put the damper on pitcher RALPH BOTTING's 1978 season, thereby stalling the momentum he had built with a 12-game winning streak the year before.

The lefthander suffered muscle strains behind his left shoulder and also endured a touch of tendinitis. He appeared in only 17 games, working 93 innings before missing the final one-third of the El Paso season.

Botting managed a winning 7-5 record despite an earned run average of 7.06.

In 1977, Botting began the year at Salinas of the California League and won his first eight starts to earn TOPPS Player of the Month honors for May. His earned run average was 2.04. He was promoted to El Paso where he reeled off four more quick victories.

"It obviously was my best year in professional ball," said Botting. "That season really helped my confidence. I had not been progressing as fast as I thought I would.

"This year I need to stay healthy and pitch a lot of innings to gain the experience I need to make it to the major leagues."

Botting was the CIF Player of the Year in 1974 for Burbank High School. He works in construction during the off season.

34 KENNETH ALVEN BRETT LHP

AGE: 30, turns 31 on Sept. 18
BORN: 9-18-48 in Brooklyn, NY
RESIDES: Hermosa Beach, CA
HT.: 5-11 WT.: 195
BATS & THROWS: Left
ACQUIRED: From Chicago White Sox in exchange for pitchers Don Kirkwood and John Verhoeven, infielder John Flannery and an undisclosed amount of cash, 6-15-77.

While baseball's winter meetings were being conducted in Orlando, Florida last December, the Anaheim Stadium switchboard was busy handling calls from curious fans, anxious for trade news. One of the most frequent callers was KEN BRETT, who had more than a casual interest in the proceedings.

"I was calling for two reasons," recalled Brett. "One, to make sure I was still here, and two, to see what the team was doing. You look at our lineup and the pitching staff and you know this is a winning ball club."

A veteran of post-season and All-Star play in his 11-year career, Brett was relegated to a supporting role with the Angels in 1978. He began the year as a spot starter but spent the second half in long relief.

"I just didn't pitch very well," Brett analyzed. "But I felt good physically and that's the important thing. Every time I threw a bad pitch

I got clobbered. Sometimes when you're going good and make a bad pitch, they hit a line drive at somebody. Last year they hit a home run."

Brett had his moments. His first start was a nifty five-hit shutout of the hard-hitting Minnesota Twins on Apr. 10 at Anaheim Stadium. On June 7 at Oakland he pitched seven innings of two-hit shutout ball to pick up a win. He got his third victory the last week of the season in a relief outing of 5.1 innings, allowing only two runs.

One of the best hitting pitchers in baseball, Brett still takes his regular cuts in batting practice.

"I might as well keep my skills up," he said. "I don't like the designated hitter rule because nine times out of 10 I'd rather have myself batting against the opposing pitcher then he would rather bat against me. The rule takes that away from me."

Brett holds the major league record for pitchers of homering in four consecutive games (June 9-13-18 & 23, 1973) while with the Philadelphia Phillies. He also ranks as the youngest pitcher (19) ever to see action in a World Series game (1967 with Boston). He was the winning pitcher in the 1974 All-Star Game.

DEAN CHANCE—ANGELS' CY YOUNG WINNER

Dean Chance, 23, became the Angels' first 20-game winner (20-9) in 1964 and the youngest player in history to win the Cy Young Award, emblematic of the outstanding pitcher in the major leagues. Chance had the lowest ERA in the majors (1.65) and pitched 11 shutouts—five by 1-0 scores, to tie a major league record.

29 RODNEY CLINE CAREW 1B

AGE: 33
BORN: 10-1-45 in Gatun, Panama Canal Zone
RESIDES: Golden Valley, MN
Ht.: 6-0 Wt.: 182
BATS: Left THROWS: Right
MARRIED: Marilynn Levy, 10-24-70
CHILDREN: Charryse, Stephanie, Michelle
ACQUIRED: From Minnesota Twins in exchange for pitcher Paul Hartzell, outfielder Ken Landreaux, infielder Dave Engel and pitcher Brad Havens, 2-3-79.

Mastering the science of hitting is accomplished by an elite few. This rarified skill encompasses keen eyesight, proper bat speed, concentration, an ability to hit the ball where it's pitched and a little luck, too.

At best it's difficult. For most, it's impossible. For those precious few who are successful, the remunerative rewards are the zenith in baseball.

Such is the case for ROD CAREW.

For the last 10 years Carew has enjoyed averages in excess of .300. During this span he has compiled a .344 mark (5260-1809).

Last year the 33-year-old Panamanian earned his seventh American League batting title with a .333 average. Only four Hall of Famers have equaled or surpassed this total. Ty Cobb, with 12, is the only other A.L. performer to earn more batting crowns. Honus Wagner, with eight, holds the National League record followed by Rogers Hornsby and Stan Musial, each with seven.

Carew has averaged 1.275 hits per game for each of the 1,635 major league games he has played. His .3344 lifetime average is easily tops among active performers.

Therefore, when Executive Vice-President E. J. (Buzzie) Bavasi and his Minnesota counterpart, Calvin Griffith, completed the swap which brought Carew to California in exchange for Paul Hartzell, Ken Landreaux and a pair of minor leaguers, the reaction was overwhelming.

"We obtained the best hitter in baseball," said Bavasi.

"It's the best deal that has been made in the American League in many years," enthused President and Chairman of the Board Gene Autry.

For the soft spoken Carew, the A.L. Rookie of the Year in 1967 and the Most Valuable Player in 1977 when he fashioned a .388 average (the highest in the majors since Boston's Ted Williams achieved the same figure in 1957), the trade meant peace of mind after a winter of uncertainty.

Since last December Carew had been courted by several clubs.

The San Francisco Giants agreed to a deal with the Twins only to have Carew veto the trade. The Angels and Carew then agreed to terms but California wasn't able to satisfy Minnesota's needs at the time.

The World Champion New York Yankees entered the picture and appeared to be close to a deal when the Yankees elected to drop out of negotiations. At this point, the Angels and Twins reached a meeting of the minds and the deal was consumated.

A perennial All-Star performer (he has appeared in the last 12 mid-summer classics), Carew's production hasn't been limited to his batting average. During the last four years he has averaged 85 runs batted in and has averaged 36 stolen bases for each of the last six seasons.

Carew tied a pair of major league stolen base records when he totaled seven thefts of home in 1969 and swiped three bases in the third inning of a May 18, 1969 game against the Detroit Tigers.

During his illustrious career Carew has collected four-or-more hits in a game on 42 occasions and enjoyed five five-hit games.

He became the 136th member of baseball's 2,000 Hit Club on July 15 when he collected a fifth-inning single off southpaw Bill Lee at Boston's Fenway Park. Pete Rose, Lou Brock, Carl Yastrzemski, Rusty Staub, Bert Campaneris and Willie McCovey are the only other active players with 2,000-or-more hits.

7 DAVID LEE CHALK — INF

AGE: 28, turns 29 on Aug. 30
BORN: 8-30-50 in Del Rio, TX
RESIDES: Arlington, TX
HT.: 5-10 WT.: 170
BATS & THROWS: Right
MARRIED: Mary Gayle Glaze, 9-23-72
CHILDREN: Amy
ACQUIRED: Angels' No. 1 selection in June, 1972 free agent draft.

Manager Jim Fregosi best sums up the value of DAVE CHALK to the California Angels.

"Every year he starts out as a utility type infielder but ends up playing in 140 or 150 games," said Fregosi. "No matter where he plays he does the job. He is a tremendously vital part of this team."

Another veteran observer called Chalk "the best utility regular in the American League."

Chalk has been the club's starting third baseman or shortstop since he arrived on the scene late in 1973, which makes him No. 2 on the club in seniority behind Nolan Ryan. Through all the disconcerting moves and infield combinations he has yet to voice a complaint. That silence, coupled with his lack of identity from a specific position, has not enhanced his national reputation.

"I never have had any publicity," said the two-time (1974 & 1975) All-Star squad member. "I don't have superstar status. I just want to go out and play.

"I'll never lead the league in hitting or home runs or stolen bases so I just try to play as hard as I can and do what I can do to the best of my ability."

The 1978 season was marred by a pair of freak injuries. On May 28 he lacerated a finger while cutting a steak on a jetliner. On Sept. 30, the next to last day of the season, he tore cartilage and ligaments in his right knee when his cleats caught on the edge of the outfield grass. Surgery was deemed successful but Chalk's winter conditioning program was shelved and he may be slow reaching peak form.

Chalk began the 1978 season at third base. A heel injury in late April opened the door for young Carney Lansford at third and Chalk soon found himself a shortstop again.

"Chalk isn't flashy out there but he does the things you need from a shortstop," said Fregosi, who speaks with some authority on the position. "He handles the routine plays and doesn't shy away from the double play."

Chalk is inching up the club career offense ladders. He ranks No. 4 with 631 hits and No. 5 with 732 games, 2,474 at bats, 256 runs and 88 doubles. He's also in the Top Ten in extra-base hits, total bases and runs batted in. He's still working his way up in the home run column.

"I hit one last year (Aug. 12 at Seattle) which actually was a pretty good shot," said Dave proudly. "But that probably was a mistake. What I do best is punch line drives to center and right. When I get into a slump it's usually because I get away from that."

32 ROBERT CALE CLARK — OF

AGE: 23, turns 24 on June 13
BORN: 6-13-55 in Sacramento, CA
RESIDES: Perris, CA
HT.: 6-0 WT.: 190
BATS & THROWS: Right
MARRIED: Donna Brown, 1-8-77
ACQUIRED: Selected in secondary phase of January, 1975 free agent draft.

Every past winner of the Kenny Myers Memorial Award has found his way to Anaheim, so 1978 recipient BOB CLARK appears on schedule in reaching his goal: "to play in the major leagues and contribute to the club's first pennant."

The powerful outfielder from Perris, CA led the Texas League with 31 home runs and 111 runs batted in last year to earn the Myers Award, presented annually since 1972 to the outstanding player in the Angels' system. It marked the fourth consecutive year of improvement in those statistical departments for Clark, who hit only four home runs as a rookie at Idaho Falls in 1975.

"I think I've been improving in every facet of my game, not just in power production," said Clark. "Gaining more experience and playing every day have made the difference, along with the change in my spiritual life.

"On May 25, 1977 I became a born-again Christian. That day I sat down and prayed and expressed my faith and it changed everything. I always had been what you would call a religious person, but that day I confirmed my devotions and it has made a world of difference."

A graduate of Perris High School, Clark attended the University of California at Riverside before transferring to Riverside City College for two productive baseball seasons.

Clark embarked on a new off-season occupation in 1977—embalming.

"It's very interesting work and I may follow it up after my baseball career," he said.

This past winter he stuck to baseball, playing in Caliacan, Mexico.

38 MARK ALAN CLEAR — RHP

AGE: 22, turns 23 on May 27
BORN: 5-27-56 in Los Angeles, CA
RESIDENCE: Covina, CA
HT.: 6-4 WT.: 200
BATS & THROWS: Right
ACQUIRED: Signed as a free agent, 6-16-75.

MARK CLEAR began concentrating on being a relief pitcher in 1978 and immediately made great strides toward the major leagues.

The 6-foot-4, 210-pound righthander made 30 relief appearances for El Paso last season and recorded 13 saves, third best in the Texas League. He was 4-2 for the Diablos after posting a 3-5 record as a starter at Salinas of the California League.

Particularly impressive were Clear's strikeout and hits per inning statistics. In 52 innings he struck out 80 batters and allowed only 28 hits. At Salinas he also had more strikeouts (55) than innings pitched (53). Throughout his minor league career he has averaged almost eight strikeouts per nine innings of work.

A graduate of Northview High School in Covina, Clear originally was signed by the Philadelphia Phillies in 1974. They released him and the Angels signed him the following year to an Idaho Falls contract, where he compiled a 1.93 earned run average. Clear spent the 1976 & 1977 seasons on the Class A level, winning 15 games and losing 17.

Mark is the nephew of first-base coach Bob Clear. The former Mt. San Antonio College student pitched for Licey in the Dominican League this winter in a short relief capacity.

MARRIED: Tanya Smith, 2-3-79
ACQUIRED: Selected in June, 1974 free agent draft.

The 1978 season was a lost year for catcher STAN CLIBURN, who is trying to bounce back to his form of 1977 and earn a possible No. 3 berth in Anaheim behind Brian Downing and Terry Humphrey.

After batting .305 and .311 the previous two seasons, Cliburn fell off at the plate last year. His troubles were compounded by a sprained right ankle suffered on July 1, which limited him to 77 games on the season.

Cliburn was the California League's All-Star catcher in 1977 and later led the Arizona Instructional League receivers in putouts.

"I went to Arizona to work primarily on my defense. I think I caught a lot better and threw better," said Cliburn. "It's easier to catch the more advanced pitchers."

A newlywed, Cliburn previously attended Hinds Junior College in Raymond, MS and Southern Mississippi University with an emphasis on business.

His goals for 1979?

"To stay healthy and play consistent baseball all year."

ACQUIRED: Angels' No. 1 selection in January, 1972 free agent draft.

Catcher TOM DONOHUE got a tantalizing glimpse of the major leagues in 1978 which served only to whet his appetite for "the big club" this season.

The 26-year-old receiver was called up at the conclusion of Salt Lake City's season early in September. But with the Angels in the thick of a pennant race and then a battle down to the final inning for second place, Donohue never got his name into a major league box score.

"It was frustrating to be so close," admitted Tom. "But finishing second meant a lot to the club so I understood the situation. Now I just want to gain a regular berth here that much more."

Donohue added versatility to his repertoire in 1978 at Salt Lake City, playing 30 games at third base. He made only three errors for a fielding average of .971, third best among Pacific Coast League third basemen playing in 10 or more games.

Donohue batted .291 with 10 home runs and 57 runs batted in for the Gulls in his second full season at Salt Lake City. He has come back completely from a seriously fractured knuckle on his right hand which curtailed his 1976 season at 37 games.

Donohue works in his father's funeral home in the winter and is pursuing a license in mortuary science.

BATS & THROWS: Right

ACQUIRED: Angels' No. 2 selection in January, 1975 free agent draft.

After two lacklustre seasons on the Double A level, righthander JIM DORSEY has thrust himself back into the Angels pitching future with a successful 1978 campaign.

Dorsey, who was 15-3 as a rookie in 1975 but was only 19-18 over the next two years, began the 1978 season at El Paso. After winning five of seven decisions, he was promoted to Salt Lake City where he managed to lead the Gulls in wins (11), innings pitched (132) and strikeouts (83). His earned run average of 3.34 was the best among the club's starters and the third best mark in the Pacific Coast League.

A 1973 graduate of Cleveland High School in the San Fernando Valley, Dorsey was drafted and signed by the Angels in January of 1975 after one season at Los Angeles Valley College. That summer he won the Win Clark Award from the Anaheim-Los Angeles chapter of the Baseball Writers' Association of America and Citizen Savings as the outstanding first-year professional from southern California. Previous winners include Ron Fairly (1958) and Chris Chambliss (1970).

In addition to his 15-3 record, Dorsey compiled a 2.08 earned run average, struck out 161 batters in an equal number of innings and tossed a no-hitter for manager Bobby Knoop.

The 6-foot-2, 190-pounder continued his fine 1978 performance for Laguiera of the Venezuelan League this winter.

5 BRIAN JAY DOWNING C

AGE: 28
BORN: 10-9-50 in Los Angeles, CA
RESIDES: Anaheim, CA
HT.: 5-10 WT.: 185
BATS & THROWS: Right
MARRIED: Cheryl Neumann, 10-24-74

ACQUIRED: From Chicago White Sox with Dave Frost and Chris Knapp in exchange for Bobby Bonds, Thad Bosley and Richard Dotson, 12-5-77.

When Jim Fregosi assumed the managerial reins of the Angels in June of 1978, the first thing he did was make BRIAN DOWNING the every day catcher. Some observers will tell you that single move was most responsible for the club enjoying the best season in its 18-year history.

"I decided to go with Downing because he is aggressive and I knew he wasn't a .220 hitter," explained Fregosi. "I think it is very difficult for a team to have a different catcher back there every day."

Fregosi's patience after the move was equally critical because Downing was in a slump at the time, batting only .189 in June. But he bounced back to hit .268 in the second half and lead the the Angels' stretch charge with his scrappy, hustling play despite numerous nagging injuries.

"I've always been very aggressive, even in high school and college when I hardly ever got to play," said Downing, a graduate of Anaheim's Magnolia High School. "It just took me awhile to mature, both physically and mentally. Gaining confidence as a hitter was a big turning point."

Downing presents a Jekyll and Hyde picture with his on and off field demeanor. In uniform, he dives into backstops and dugouts for foul balls, ignores painful injuries and goes 110 per cent on the basepaths. Away from the diamond he retains the shyness and timidity of his youth, a condition magnified by the circumstances of his arrival with the Angels in the Bobby Bonds trade.

"Yes, the fans' reaction bothered me," recalled Downing. "People seemed to think the Angels were getting three nobodys in exchange for a truly fine ballplayer. I felt like a villain, like they were going to throw tomatoes and oranges at me whenever I made a public appearance. All I could do was ask them to wait and see what we could do."

What Downing did was to win over the fans' hearts. The Angels' Booster Club presented him its "Most Inspirational Player" Award. He set career highs with 105 hits, 15 doubles and 46 runs batted in. And he only expects to get better.

"For one thing, I had surgery (Nov. 10) this winter to remove bone chips from my right elbow. Secondly, I still think I'm improving." And thirdly, I don't think I've reached my full physical growth."

Downing can serve as an inspiration to many a frustrated amateur. Exiled to the bench one season at Cypress College ("I hit .333 . .. 1-for-3 as a pinch hitter") and bypassed in the free agent draft, Downing won a tryout with the White Sox and earned a contract.

"Heck, I just wasn't very good then," he recalls. "I see some of those guys I was playing behind now and I can just see the questions in their faces—'How did you make it? I was twice as good as you were—and they were. But they didn't progress beyond that level. Call it inner heart, determination or attitude. It's almost as important as physical ability."

A devoted believer in the Nautilus system of weight training, Downing packs a solid 185 pounds over his 5-foot-10 frame. And it won't be long before No. 2 son Brandon Aaron Downing, born Sept. 23 last year, joins dad and brother Bradley in their workouts.

BORN: 8-21-57 in Sterling, IL
RESIDES: Moline, IL
HT.: 6-2 WT.: 185
BATS & THROWS: Right
ACQUIRED: Selected in June, 1975 free agent draft.

Coinciding with STEVE EDDY's first appearance on a major league roster is his first appearance at spring training. While other Angels prospects have been undergoing scrutiny at the Holtville minor league complex for the past three years, Eddy has been completing pre-med studies at Yale University.

"Some of my teammates resented what they saw as me breezing into town in June and taking their spot on the mound," said the scholarly righthander. "But I missed the camaraderie and cohesion that develops among players in the spring. That makes this year all the more appealing."

Eddy's abbreviated playing schedule has taken its toll on his development. He has appeared in only 79 games and worked 433 innings in four years as a professional, but it was a schedule he and the Angels front office agreed upon when he signed a contract after high school graduation in 1975.

One positive result has been a double course in maturity.

"My rookie season at Idaho Falls was an eye opener," said the United Township High School graduate, who was drafted on the 19th round. "I learned that a pitcher must use all of his faculties to beat his opponent. A thrower just overpowers the batter.

"Freshman year at Yale was pretty traumatic. It was really my first exposure to intellectual competition, to wealth and to a lot of things."

Although he could not play for the school team, Eddy worked out with the Elis to be in game condition when classes were over. His major field of study is psycho biology.

"My goal is to entrench myself within the Angels organization through consistent, exemplary performance."

6 RONALD RAY FAIRLY — 1B-OF

AGE: 40, turns 41 on July 12
BORN: 7-12-38 in Macon, GA
RESIDES: Calabasas Park, CA
HT.: 5-10 WT.: 180
BATS & THROWS: Left
MARRIED: Mary Sinclair, 2-4-63
CHILDREN: Steve, Mike, Pat
ACQUIRED: From Toronto Blue Jays in exchange for catcher Pat Kelly and infielder Butch Alberts, 12-8-77.

Now in his 22nd major league season, a veteran of four World Series, two All-Star Games plus more than 2,400 regular season contests, RON FAIRLY exudes the same boyish exuberance toward the game as he did the first time he trotted onto the field in 1958.

"You stay mentally young just playing this game," said Fairly. "I always felt that when the manager put my name in the lineup, that was enough motivation for me. The fact that I'm in a major league uniform, that's all I need. That and knowing that the first and 15th I get a paycheck. I've been very lucky."

Fairly's assessment is only partially true. Possessing an abundance of talent has led the 40-year-old redhead to the brink of a pair of milestones.

He needs 87 more hits to achieve a lifetime total of 2,000 and he's only 69 runs shy of reaching the 1,000 plateau.

Seeing limited action last year, Fairly proved highly productive, accounting for 10 home runs (third best total on the team) and driving in 10 decisive runs.

It was a 9th-inning Fairly home run off New York's Ed Figueroa which gave the Angels a 3-2 win at Yankee Stadium in mid-June.

"I love hitting in Yankee Stadium. I love the park. The fans excite me. The City excites me."

He also accounted for all three runs batted in as California handed Kansas City a 3-1 setback the latter part of June.

The key hit proved to be a grounder which was deflected off the glove of first baseman Pete LaCock and handed Al (the Mad Hungarian) Hrabosky—Fairly's former teammate—the defeat.

Fairly needs two more seasons of service to become the 8th player in modern baseball—since 1900—to have played in four decades.

Eddie Collins (1906-30), Jack Quinn (1909-33), Bobo Newsom (1929-53), Mickey Vernon (1939-60), Ted Williams (1939-60), Early Wynn (1939-63) and Minnie Minoso (1949-64 & 76) comprise the elite group. A half-dozen other players also performed the feat, beginning prior to the turn of the century.

15 DARNELL GLENN FORD, SR. OF

AGE: 26, turns 27 on May 19
BORN: 5-19-52 in Los Angeles, CA
RESIDES: West Covina, CA
HT.: 6-1 WT.: 185
BATS & THROWS: Right
MARRIED: Patricia Sneed, 11-5-71
CHILDREN: Danny, Jr., Kimberly
ACQUIRED: From Minnesota Twins in exchange for Ron Jackson and Dan Goodwin, 12-4-78.

When DAN FORD learned he had been traded to the Angels in December, he expressed the joy typical of athletes dispatched from an unhappy setting to greener pastures near home.

"This is like a dream come true," said Ford, who grew up in Los Angeles and lives in West Covina. "I'm home. It's like being back in high school again."

But Ford also had another reason to be pleased with the assignment of replacing Lyman Bostock.

"We were teammates together for three years in Minnesota and from the same part of town," said Ford, who attended Fremont High School while Bostock was at Manual Arts. "Everyone had good things to say about Lyman and I consider it an honor to try to replace him."

Ford will play right field and probably bat third, so the comparisons are inevitable.

"I wouldn't say anyone can take Lyman Bostock's place," said Chairman of the Board Gene Autry, "but in Ford we have someone who can do as much as anyone."

Ford brings power and above average speed to the lineup. Last year he had 57 extra-base hits, ranking second in the American League with 10 triples and fifth with 36 doubles. He hit 11 home runs and drove in 82 runs.

"Ford has the potential to drive in 100 runs," said manager Jim Fregosi. "And his speed is something we needed very badly."

The Oakland A's originally signed Ford, but traded him to the Twins in 1974. There he won a major league berth and in four seasons averaged 14 home runs and 72 RBI while batting in all nine positions in the lineup.

DAN FORD continued

"I like to hit in any of the first four spots," said Ford. "I don't mind the pressure and I can drive in runs. And here I'll be protected by Don Baylor and Joe Rudi hitting behind me."

Anaheim Stadium has been one of Ford's favorite driving ranges. He takes a lifetime .328 batting average (39-for-119) with three home runs and 15 RBI into the 1979 campaign. Overall, he has a higher lifetime average (.302) against the Angels than against any other club.

CARL DAVID FROST — RHP

AGE: 26
BORN: 11-17-52 in Long Beach, CA
RESIDES: Long Beach, CA
HT.: 6-6 WT.: 235
BATS & THROWS: Right
ACQUIRED: From Chicago White Sox with Brian Downing and Chris Knapp in exchange for Bobby Bonds, Thad Bosley and Richard Dotson, 12-5-77.

The silver lining in the cloud of injuries which hovered around Nolan Ryan in 1978 was DAVE FROST, a righthander big in stature and big in talent.

The 6-foot-6, 235-pounder was the "prospect" Chicago tendered the Angels along with Brian Downing and Chris Knapp in the 1977 Bobby Bonds trade. When Ryan injured a leg in June last season, Frost was recalled from Salt Lake City and immediately inserted into the starting rotation.

The results? The prospect became a revelation. Frost posted the best earned run average on the club at 2.59 while compiling a deceptive 5-4 record. In his four defeats, the Angels scored a TOTAL of one run.

The consistency of Frost was atypical of a rookie. In all 10 starts he pitched at least 5.1 innings and only twice did he allow more than three runs in an outing.

"No, I wasn't surprised at my success," said Frost, who had logged four appearances with Chicago in September, 1977. "I didn't do anything I hadn't done in the past. I just hope to start off in 1979 where I left off last year."

For one thing, Frost wants to spend the entire season in Anaheim. Last August he served a second hitch in Salt Lake City after suffering a back injury in late July. Secondly, Frost hopes to remain in a starting capacity.

"I hope to remain a starter," said Frost. "It's what I have done all my professional career and I think I'm most effective there."

The Western Division champion Kansas City Royals will attest to Frost's effectiveness. In four starts vs. them he compiled a 2-0 record with a 2.20 ERA. He fashioned his first major league complete game and shutout vs. Seattle on July 8 at Anaheim.

At Palo Alto, Frost also was a starter on the Cardinals' basketball team. He previously had excelled in that sport at Millikan High School and Long Beach City College, where he was a member of the state championship basketball team in 1971 as a freshman.

4 ROBERT ANTHONY GRICH INF

AGE: 30
BORN: 1-15-49 in Muskegon, MI
RESIDES: Long Beach, CA
HT.: 6-2 WT.: 190
BATS & THROWS: Right
ACQUIRED: Selected in re-entry draft and signed 11-24-76.

The trials and tribulations of BOBBY GRICH continued last year.

After signing a five-year million dollar plus contract with the Angels following the re-entry draft in 1976, the Long Beach resident suffered back damage in the spring of 1977.

An abbreviated campaign of 52 games was culminated with a July 3 operation performed by Dr. Michael Sukoff for the removal of a herniated disc from the veteran infielders back.

With the misery of the first year a thing of the past, Grich anticipated smooth sailing in 1978.

It simply wasn't to be.

Grich carried a batting average which hovered in the mid-.220s into August. His play in the field reflected his performance at the plate.

Fans found it difficult to comprehend they were watching a four time Gold Glove winner for fielding excellence at second base and a three-time All-Star performer.

For Grich, the physical pain and the mental anguish of the past two years was even more difficult to contain.

Finally, during a three-game set with Boston in mid-August, the bottom dropped out. Grich committed key errors in successive games and went to manager Jim Fregosi, asking to be taken out of the line-up to get a different perspective.

"It was the low point all right," confessed Grich. "I got off to such a bad start that I felt like I was digging out of a hole all season. Every now and then I'd make some progress only to get knocked back down with an 0 for 10. The worse I went, the more I pressed. The more I pressed, the worse I went. I must have tried 15 new stances. This game is so mental. It was very hard keeping it all together."

Actually, the turn of events shouldn't have been too surprising. Dr. Sukoff warned Grich following the operation, saying, "the next year is going to be rough on you. Be patient with yourself. Don't expect too much of yourself."

"I didn't want to believe it when the doctor said I was going to have problems," said the 30-year-old bachelor. "As a ballplayer, you don't want to believe things like that."

Fan reaction turned positive in September with the emergence of the real Bobby Grich.

He collected 31 hits in 87 at bats, compiling a .356 average to match 14 runs batted in.

"I began to feel stronger. My confidence came back. I ate and slept baseball during that stretch. As a player, it makes it easier to play under those conditions," confided Grich.

With the improved hitting, the fielding also showed the familiar Grich finesse.

There were a number of plus factors throughout the year for the personable second baseman.

He hit .300-or-more against four opponents, including division winner Kansas City (.353) and the World Champion New York Yankees (.333); hit a respectable .272 against the West division and continued his impressive hitting at Anaheim Stadium, posting a .284 average while maintaining a lifetime Big-A figure of .294 (135 for 459).

One of the most difficult jobs in baseball is that of the seldom used reserve. Particularly in the case of a catcher, the lack of everyday action dulls the skills. Yet, when called upon, that player is expected to perform to the standards of a regular.

IKE HAMPTON knows the role and has accepted it admirably. He spent the entire 1977 season with the Angels and batted only 44 times. Last year he went to the plate only 14 times before being optioned to Salt Lake City on July 5.

Hampton made his three hits count, producing a run each time. Most notable were a two-run triple at Chicago on May 17 and a solo home run off Scott McGregor on June 15 in Baltimore.

Hampton underwent surgery Sept. 29, 1978 for transfer of the ulnar nerve in his right elbow. The operation prevented him from playing winter ball but he was expected to be fully recuperated by spring training.

9 TERRYAL GENE HUMPHREY C

AGE: 29, turns 30 on Aug. 4
BORN: 8-4-49 in Chickasha, OK
RESIDES: Newport Beach, CA
HT.: 6-3 WT.: 190
BATS & THROWS: Right
MARRIED: Jan Payne, 11-12-77
ACQUIRED: From Houston's Memphis club with pitcher Mike Barlow in exchange for catcher Ed Herrmann, 6-6-76.

The truest test of a manager's ability may be found by gauging his popularity with the non-regulars in his clubhouse. Athletes who play every day are usually happy. Those who are reserves often divide their time between grumbling about their inactivity and second-guessing the field boss.

That's why the attitude of TERRY HUMPHREY is so refreshing. He and Jim Fregosi understand each other's situation.

"Sure, I was disappointed at first when Jim made Brian Downing the No. 1 catcher last year," said Humphrey. "Everyone wants to be a starter. But I feel as if I'm helping this team by staying ready in reserve.

"And, to be truthful, I never realized until I saw him every day what a fine catcher Brian is. I always knew he could hit, but he did all the other things so well."

"Sure we count on Humphrey," said Fregosi. "Both of our catchers are important. It's hard to be ready to play at a minute's notice. And it's not easy to be a back-up at anything in this game, especially when you were the No. 1 guy."

Humphrey came to the Angels midway in 1976 from the Houston organization. His rifle arm discouraged enemy runners and he batted a career high .245 while playing in 71 games. In 1977 he was the regular catcher before wearing down in September and last year he alternated with Downing before Fregosi's arrival. As a seven-year veteran, he could have opted for free agency last October.

"I'm very happy here," he explained. "It's my home, it's a great place to play and this team will be a winner for a long time to come. I didn't ever consider playing for another team."

Injuries plagued Humphrey in his early seasons with Montreal and Detroit, but he has been durable as an Angel. And, on occasion, he has contributed some timely hitting.

"Hump doesn't have a whole lot of RBI but if you look at them, he's driven in some mighty big runs," points out Frank Tanana.

It was Tanana who benefitted from Humphrey's first and only major league triple as it provided all the scoring in a 1-0 Angels' win on Opening Night last year. On May 5 he singled home the first two runs of a Nolan Ryan shutout of Cleveland. On May 14 his RBI was decisive in Tanana's 4-3 win over Cleveland.

"It's obvious hitting is not my strong point, but I throw well and I'm a thinking catcher," said Humphrey. "I figure I'll go about doing my job whether I'm a sub or a starter. I'll just work as hard as I can."

42 ROBERT CHRISTIAN KNAPP RHP

AGE: 25, turns 26 on Sept. 16
BORN: 9-16-53 in Cherry Point, NC
RESIDES: Sarasota, FL
HT.: 6-5 WT.: 200
BATS & THROWS: Right
MARRIED: Pam Clark, 10-4-75
CHILDREN: Rebecca Lynn
ACQUIRED: From Chicago White Sox with Brian Downing and Dave Frost in exchange for Bobby Bonds, Thad Bosley and Richard Dotson, 12-5-77.

CHRIS KNAPP was the second winningest Angels pitcher last year, posting a 14-8 record. He missed a perfect game in Toronto by one pitch. And he compiled a nearly flawless 9-1 record at Anaheim Stadium.

Yet glaring out from his 1978 pitching log is a void between July 8 and July 31 when he left the team in a contract dispute which detracted from his positive contributions to the club.

"I'd like to let the issue drop and be forgotten, but I guess that won't happen," said Knapp, a quiet and introverted young man who fell victim to the complexities of baseball's modern financial structure. "I left the team because it was what I thought I had to do and I came back because I wanted to. It was my own decision and that's all I care to say about it."

Knapp was 10-6 when he took his hiatus and missed five starts, depriving himself of an opportunity at a 20-victory season. As it was, his 14-win season is surpassed by only Frank Tanana, Nolan Ryan and Ed Figueroa among Angels the past five years.

His 9-1 slate at the Big-A last year ran his career record there to 11-1. "I don't know why I pitch so well in Anaheim," admitted Knapp. "It's hard to explain. I've pitched some very good games on the road, too."

His best game ever came Sept. 3 at Toronto. Knapp faced 28 batters and retired them all except Willie Horton, who led off the second inning with a home run.

"I may have had better stuff on other occasions, but that game ranks right up there with the best," said Chris, who was deprived of his first major league league shutout. "I made them hit the ball and, fortunately, they were hitting it right at people. The pitch Horton hit was a mistake on my part, a low fastball out over the plate."

In logging his first complete major league season, Knapp defeated every club he faced except Boston.

Unlike Brian Downing, he didn't feel he had anything to prove to Angels' fans unhappy over the Bobby Bonds deal.

"I was home in Florida and heard most of the criticism second hand," he recalled. "It didn't bother me. I didn't make the trade so the monkey was off my back. I knew if we got off to a good start, people would forget. Besides, I think the trade will pay off for the Angels in the long run."

12 CARNEY RAY LANSFORD INF

AGE: 22
BORN: 2-7-57 in San Jose, CA
RESIDES: Santa Clara, CA
HT.: 6-2 WT.: 195
BATS & THROWS: Right
MARRIED: Deborah Samora, 2-10-79
ACQUIRED: Selected in June, 1975 free agent draft.

Selected by the Angels on the third round of the 1975 summer draft, 18-year-old CARNEY LANSFORD made a promise to himself.

"I figured I'd give myself four years in the minors before making it to the big leagues. Then, it'd be time to turn to something else."

Fortunately for California and Carney, it took only two years plus eight games for the Santa Clara speedster to jump from class AA El Paso (Texas League) to a berth on the Angels' squad. Lansford proceeded to record one of the finest seasons ever compiled by an Angel first year player.

"From what Lansford has shown us, he's the best rookie to come up in this organization in a number of years," offered manager Jim Fregosi. "He might possibly be the best player ever developed in our system.

"He's got a great mental makeup for the game. He likes to play. He's an aggressive player, runs well and can steal a base."

Lansford completed 1978 by posting a .294 average—tops in the majors among rookies playing 100-or-more games.

For his efforts, he finished third in the American League Rookie of the Year derby behind Detroit's Lou Whitaker (.285) and Milwaukee's Paul Molitor (.273).

Had it not been for a partial tear in the ligaments of his left thumb, which kept him out of action for 25 games, Lansford's average would have placed him among the top 15 in the A.L. He sustained the injury in a brief skirmish with New York catcher Mike Heath, June 10, following a collision at home plate.

Lansford hit second in the line-up most of the season before being elevated to the No. 3 spot following the untimely death of Lyman Bostock. He hit .300-or-more against six opponents, topped by a .423 mark vs. division winner Kansas City.

It took Angels' super sleuth Bill Rigney only a few minutes to recognize Lansford's potential last spring.

"That kid is a major leaguer," said Rig. It wasn't the first time Rigney had made a snap judgment of a player. He was similarly impressed and quoted 17 years earlier after appraising the talents of another infielder named Fregosi.

"I really had no idea what was going to happen to me at Holtville," said Lansford. "I just tried to do my best and work as hard as I could."

A .300 spring average earned Lansford a spot on the roster. It wasn't until an injury sidelined third basman Dave Chalk that Lansford got his opportunity to start.

"I think the big reason I got the chance was because Rance Mulliniks got off to a slow start. When Chalk came back, he was moved to short and I stayed at third."

Lansford completed his first year with a .330 average vs. West division opponents; a .321 mark at the Big A; a .344 standard vs. southpaws and a .299 average throughout the second half.

He enjoyed his finest month down the pennant stretch, hitting .344 with four home runs and 16 runs batted in during September.

17 DAVIS EUGENE LA ROCHE LHP

AGE: 30, turns 31 on May 14
BORN: 5-14-48 in Colorado Springs, CO
RESIDES: Mission Viejo, CA
HT.: 6-2 WT.: 195
BATS & THROWS: Left
MARRIED: Patty Regan, 3-24-73
CHILDREN: Nanette, Nikki, Jeffrey
ACQUIRED: From Cleveland Indians in exchange for Bruce Bochte, Sid Monge and undisclosed amount of cash, 5-11-77.

In assessing the second place finish by the Angels last season, the best wind-up in the history of the organization, a major portion of the success must be attributed to the accomplishments of southpaw reliever DAVE LA ROCHE.

Averaging 60 appearances in each of the last four seasons, La Roche enjoyed the finest year of his career, posting a 10-9 mark, a 2.82 ERA and a club record 25 saves.

Seven of the "saves" were produced during the final month of play.

The fast finish enabled La Roche to tie New York's Rich Gossage for the Rolaid's American League Fireman of the Year honors. However, Gossage, with benefit of the play-off game against Boston, earned a save to win the award.

The 30-year-old fastballer, who once harbored ambitions of being a fireman of another sort as a youngster, achieved a pair of milestones last year. He surpassed the 100 level in career saves and reached 51 saves as a member of the Angels, placing him in the No. 1 spot on the club's all-time list.

"Being a relief pitcher isn't particularly tough because I only have to face a hitter once whereas starters go through the lineup four times," said La Roche. "My adrenalin starts flowing as soon as the game situation gets close."

A two-time member of the A.L. All-Star squad, La Roche is currently in his second go-around with the Angels.

The Mission Viejo resident came up through the Angels ranks and in two seasons with California, posted a 9-2 record with 13 saves before being dispatched to Minnesota.

He eventually pitched for the Chicago Cubs and Cleveland Indians before being traded back to the Angels for Bruce Bochte and Sid Monge.

The personable La Roche recorded more saves against Kansas City—five—than against any other opponent. He was 6-3 with a 2.85 ERA and 18 saves vs. West division competition.

"Dave is most effective when he pitches frequently but not for very long in one game," offered manager Jim Fregosi. "We hope he only has to go through the lineup one time, so he usually doesn't get called until late in a game.

"I feel equally confident with him working vs. righthanded or lefthanded batters. Actually, I think he has better luck against righthanders."

La Roche has his own evaluation regarding pitching in relief.

"I definitely prefer to save a victory," he admitted. "The starter feels good, I'm happy and the team's happy.

"When a reliever picks up a win, it usually means either the starter hasn't pitched as well as he'd like to, or the reliever has come in and given up a run or two before the team has come back to win for him. Either way, it isn't good."

DYAR K. MILLER — RHP

AGE: 32, turns 33 on May 29
BORN: 5-29-46 in Batesville, IN
RESIDES: Greensburg, IN
HT.: 6-0 WT.: 215
BATS & THROWS: Right
MARRIED: Janet Weber, 4-30-71
CHILDREN: Matthew, Christopher
ACQUIRED: From Baltimore Orioles in exchange for Dick Drago, 6-13-77.

With Dave LaRoche setting club save records and challenging Rich Gossage for the American League's "Fireman of the Year" award, the large shadow he cast in the bullpen tended to obscure the performance last year of DYAR MILLER.

The Hoosier righthander had the best winning percentage on the staff (.750) with a 6-2 record and his earned run average of 2.65 was just a shade behind Dave Frost's 2.58 as the club's best. Throw in one save and it's no wonder manager Jim Fregosi is fond of Miller.

"He's a competitor, he just wants the ball and wants to pitch," said Fregosi. "You don't have to ask him how he feels. He's always ready when needed."

A mine field couldn't keep Dyar from the Anaheim Stadium mound, where he compiled a perfect 5-0 mark in 1978. Lifetime in Anaheim he is 5-2 with a 2.25 ERA.

"It's just nice to get the opportunity to work a lot and be on a pennant contender," said Miller. "They had given up on me in Baltimore because of my age (then 31). I never really was a prospect. I spent seven years in the minors and was signed as a catcher (by Philadelphia)."

Miller gradually worked his way up through the Orioles' system and led their staff in 1976 with 49 apperances. He came to the Angels midway through 1977 for Dick Drago and picked up three victories in his first three assignments for California.

Last year, Dyar spent almost a month (July 26 to Aug. 18) on the disabled list with a bruised shoulder, the result of a home-plate collision with Detroit's Jason Thompson. He went unbeaten until Aug. 27 at Boston when a 12th inning error on the potential game-ending ground ball turned a victory into a loss.

RULES AND REGULATIONS—1979

TRADING REGULATIONS:

Within Own League—No waivers necessary from last day of season to midnight, June 15. Waivers are necessary from midnight June 15th (Pacific Coast Time) to final day of the season.

Inter-League—Waivers are necessary at all times except during the two inter-league trading periods. (The first inter-league trading period, added in 1977, allows for the assignment of player contracts from one major league to another without waivers in the period starting 12:01 Pacific Coast Time, February 15th, and ending at midnight, March 15th, Pacific Coast Time. The second inter-league trading period comes five days after the close of the World Series and continues until midnight (Pacific Coast Time) of the night before the final day of the winter meetings.)

National Association—Waivers are required at all times for assignment to National Association, except for optional assignments within three years of date player first reported to the major leagues.

BATTING AND PITCHING (ERA) CHAMPION QUALIFICATIONS: 502 or more plate appearances. 162 or more innings pitched.

ROOKIE QUALIFICATIONS: A player may not have spent more than 45 days on a major league roster between Opening Day and September 1 AND may not have exceeded 130 at bats or 50 innings pitched at major league level to qualify as a Rookie.

DETERMINING MAGIC NUMBER: To figure "Magic Number" in pennant race, compute the number of games yet to be played, add one, then subtract the number of games ahead in the loss column of the standings from the closest opponent.

SAVE RULE (10:20): Credit a pitcher with a save when he is the finishing but not the winning pitcher, and when he qualifies under ONE of the following conditions—(1) he enters the game with a lead of no more than three runs and pitches for at least one inning; or (2) he enters the game with the potential tying run either on base or at bat, or on deck; or (3) he pitches effectively for at least three innings regardless of his team's lead.

GAME WINNING RBI: The RBI that gives a club the lead it never relinquishes.

RICHARD ALAN MILLER — OF

AGE: 30, turns 31 on Apr. 19
BORN: 4-19-48 in Grand Rapids, MI
RESIDES: Winter Haven, FL
HT.: 6-0 WT.: 185
BATS & THROWS: Left
MARRIED: Janet Marie Fisk, 10-27-73
ACQUIRED: Selected in re-entry draft and signed, 12-8-77.

Following an abbreviated period of assessing the Angels' talent upon assuming the managerial chores, Jim Fregosi made a pair of major changes in the lineup.

He inserted Brian Downing as the No. 1 receiver and switched his right-fielder and center-fielder, moving RICK MILLER to center with Lyman Bostock taking over in right field.

The strategy reaped huge dividends. Downing turned in a solid performance behind the plate while Bostock's batting average soared.

And Miller? Miller went on a nine-game hitting streak, continued to hit safely in 18 of 19 games—a .370 clip—and excelled on defense.

One brilliant diving catch followed another until it became a Miller trademark. By season's end, Miller had earned his first Gold Glove award for fielding excellence.

"A good fielder can save a club 80 runs over a season," said Miller. "I don't think it is too much to expect a good outfielder to save one run every two games."

Offensively, Miller set career highs in five categories—at bats, runs, hits, doubles and bases on balls.

He also celebrated his second career grand slam home run (off Minnesota's Gary Serum), propelling the Angels to a 9-5 victory against the Twins, April 12.

"You can't think home run when you haven't hit one in four years," said Miller. "I was just trying to make contact. The pitch happened to be a breaking ball and I got around on it."

One of the reasons Miller hadn't hit a home run in four years was the lack of playing time he encountered while watching Carl Yastrzemski, Fred Lynn, Dwight Evans and Jim Rice patrol the outfield while a member of the Boston Red Sox.

"I felt if I was going to keep my career going, I had to make a move. In three more years I probably would have been finished as a baseball player. Playing everyday can lengthen my career a few more years."

So Miller played out his option in 1977 and eventually signed with the Angels.

"He's one of the three best center fielders in the league along with Lynn and Juan Beniquez," said Fregosi.

18 STEVEN RANCE MULLINIKS — INF

AGE: 23
BORN: 1-15-56 in Tulare, CA
RESIDES: Woodville, CA
HT.: 6-0 WT.: 170
BATS: Left THROWS: Right
MARRIED: Jeannette Geck, 1-17-78
CHILDREN: Rance Ryan
ACQUIRED: Angels' No. 3 selection in June, 1974 free agent draft.

Will the real RANCE MULLINIKS please stand up?

It is the rangy, confident 21-year-old rookie of 1977 who made all the plays at shortstop while batting a solid .269?

Or is it the tentative sophomore of 1978 who hit only .185 before being dispatched to Salt Lake City in July?

The outcome of that mystery may be the key factor in determining the Angels' fortunes in 1979.

"I don't think I saw the real Rance Mulliniks," said executive vice president Buzzie Bavasi, who took over the club after the 1977 season. "Everything I had heard about him was favorable and even this past winter a lot of clubs inquired about him. We're confident he can bounce back and do the job."

Injuries didn't help Mulliniks' situation last year. He finally had found his hitting stroke early in June when he went on a 6-for-12 spree only to pull a hamstring muscle. What might have been a short visit to Salt Lake City lasted until September due to an incapacitating hip injury.

Mulliniks has been through adversity before.

"Spring training of 1977 was a disaster," he recalled. "I didn't think I would make the club but I was trying to leave an impression . . . I was probably the only guy ever to play every game in spring and not get a single hit."

His regular season debut didn't cause immediate excitement, either. "I was in a slump at Salt Lake City when they called me up," said Rance, who was leading the Gulls with 11 home runs at the time. "Bob Clear worked with me and got me straightened out, eventually, after I went 3-for-25. I hit a home run off Rick Langford on the Fourth of July before 43,000 at Anaheim Stadium. It was by far the biggest thrill I've ever had in baseball."

2 ORLANDO LEAL RAMIREZ INF

AGE: 27, turns 28 on Sept. 28
BORN: 9-28-51 in Cartagena, Colombia
RESIDES: Anaheim, CA
HT.: 5-10 WT.: 170
BATS & THROWS: Right
MARRIED: Corrine Crawford, 9-28-78
ACQUIRED: Signed as free agent, 3-15-72.

More than four years after his hasty debut, ORLANDO RAMIREZ is ready for the major leagues. At least that's the opinion of Moose Stubing, his manager in 1978 at El Paso of the Texas League.

"He's changed and now he is ready," said Stubing, who saw the fleet infielder bat .282 and steal 22 bases last year.

Ramirez was rushed to Anaheim in 1974 only two years out of his native Colombia. Combating a language and culture problem as well as American League pitchers, Orlando struggled while displaying flashes of brilliance at shortstop.

As if he needed more obstacles, a freak injury virtually ruined his 1976 season. He was sitting in the Angels' dugout in Comiskey Park on May 17 when struck in the chest by an errant throw during pre-game infield practice. Hospitalization was required and recurring internal bleeding kept him out of action for more than a month. He was returned to the minor leagues to play his way back into shape.

After making the squad in 1977 as a reserve, he went on the disabled list in July with ligament damage to his left thumb.

Ramirez, only the second Colombian to play in the major leagues, has attended school in southern California to learn English. This past winter he was married to a resident of nearby Orange.

RESIDES: Los Angeles, CA
HT.: 5-10 WT.: 195
BATS & THROWS: Right
ACQUIRED: Selected in June, 1975 free agent draft.

Versatile FLOYD RAYFORD enjoyed his best professional season in 1978 at El Paso, setting career highs in every offensive category except triples, stolen bases and walks. Yet the stocky infielder found himself overshadowed in the Diablos drive to the Texas League championship.

Rayford's batting average of .313 was seventh best in the league but only third on the club behind batting champion Dan Goodwin and outfielder Bob Clark.

His 36 doubles were good for second in the league, just behind teammate Bill Ewing, who had 37.

And his fielding average of .9569 at third base was just off the league leader's pace of .9571.

Rayford played all four infield positions for the Diablos as he hung up the catching tools which attracted him to the Angels at Manual Arts High School in 1975.

"His bat is his biggest asset and is what will get him to the major leagues," said his former manager Bob Rodgers, now a coach with the Milwaukee Brewers.

Rayford played winter ball at Licey in the Dominican Republic.

MERVIN WELDON RETTENMUND — OF

AGE: 35, turns 36 on June 6
BORN: 6-6-43 in Flint, MI
RESIDES: Poway, CA
HT.: 5-11 WT.: 190
BATS & THROWS: Right
MARRIED: Susan Clark, 10-6-64
CHILDREN: Cindy, Christy
ACQUIRED: Signed as free agent, 3-25-78.

It took MERV RETTENMUND only eight games to do what no other Angels player had done in the club's 17-year history: hit a pinch-hit grand slam home run.

The veteran outfielder had only 14 at bats as an Angel when he stepped to the plate with the bases loaded on May 6 vs. Cleveland's Dennis Kinney. Rettenmund deposited a Kinney offering just inside the left field foul pole to the considerable delight of a crowd of 40,750.

Rettenmund, who had batted .300 and .286 as a pinch- hitter the previous two years in San Diego, had a disappointing .133 mark (2-for-15) in that category as an Angel. But his overall on-base percentage was typically high, .436, as he drew 30 walks and twice was hit by a pitch to go with 29 hits in 140 plate appearances.

The 35-year-old veteran of 11 major league seasons holds the National League record for most walks (16) as a pinch hitter, accomplished in 1977 for the Padres. He holds San Diego club marks with 21 hits in 1977 and two home runs in 1976.

Rettenmund has a long association with winners. He has played in five Championship Series and four World Series with Baltimore and Cincinnati. His best year was 1971 when he batted .318 with 11 home runs and 75 runs batted in.

26 JOSEPH ODEN RUDI OF

AGE: 32, turns 33 on Sept. 7
BORN: 9-7-46 in Modesto, CA
RESIDES: Baker, OR
HT.: 6-2 WT.: 200
BATS & THROWS: Right
MARRIED: Sharon Howell, 5-9-66
CHILDREN: Michael, Scott, Heather
ACQUIRED: Selected in re-entry draft and signed 11-17-76.

It was the nadir of JOE RUDI'S 12-year major league career, yet it spoke as highly for the professionalism of the man as any of the glory days with the three-time World Champion Oakland A's.

The date was June 27, 1978. With a batting average of .193, only 18 runs batted in as the midway point of the season approached and scattered boos greeting the announcement of his name, Rudi was benched by manager Jim Fregosi. The rookie skipper wanted him to relax and forget the statistics, the laborious return from hand surgery of 1977 and a pulled leg muscle which sidelined him much of May.

Certainly Rudi could have found company for his misery on the bench that night. The Angels had lost five in a row, four by shutout. And they were down again, 4-1, with two outs in the seventh inning to Kansas City when Rudi was summoned to pinch hit.

The dramatic result was the kind of event that put Hollywood on the map. Rudi slugged a grand-slam home run for a 5-4 victory which thrust the Angels back into their first sustained pennant chase.

A prime mover in that challenge was Rudi, who drove in 57 runs the remainder of the year to finish with 79, second on the club to Don Baylor and the third best total of his career.

"Of course we weren't satisfied finishing second (tied), but it was gratifying to finally make a contribution to this club, the fans and Mr. Autry," said Rudi. "I heard the boos early in the year and I didn't blame them. I would have booed my performance, too.

"I must have left 500 runners on base the first half of the season. But it certainly wasn't anything intentional. I just go up there every time and do the best I can. Sometimes the pitcher wins, sometimes you win. Sometimes you drive the runs home, sometimes you don't. You just hope you're able to do it more often than not."

It was fitting that Rudi's season turned around in June, a month which has plagued him in recent years. In 1978 it was the benching. In 1977 his season ended prematurely when a Nelson Briles pitch fractured his wrist. The year before he found himself in limbo when Commissioner Bowie Kuhn vetoed the sale of Rudi to the Boston Red Sox.

Rudi provided many dramatic moments in the 1978 campaign. His 11th inning home run on April 13 produced a 1-0 win over Minnesota in a game destined to end two outs later because of a time curfew. Later there were two more grand slams (July 6 at Kansas City and July 26 at Milwaukee), which made him the first Angel to collect three in a season.

As usual, Rudi was getting his hits when they counted most.

"He gets more RBI per hits than any person I've ever seen," said Baltimore manager Earl Weaver after seeing an Orioles lead evaporate last year.

Rudi ranked third among A.L. outfielders last year with a .992 fielding average (two errors) and also played 10 errorless games at first base, where he may see considerable action in 1979.

Rudi and family winter on their rambling ranch in eastern Oregon. Remodeling the house and ham radio operating occupied his time.

Disabling injuries:

1975 — Jammed left thumb, disabled Aug. 10 through Sept. 16.

1977 — Fractured right wrist (Nelson Briles pitch), June 26. Missed remainder of season. Surgery by Dr. Julio Taleisnik on Sept. 2 to remove bone fragments from wrist joint.

LYNN NOLAN RYAN, JR. RHP

AGE: 32
BORN: 1-31-47 in Refugio, TX
RESIDES: Alvin, TX
HT.: 6-2 WT.: 195
BATS & THROWS: Right
MARRIED: Ruth Holdorff, 6-26-67
CHILDREN: Reid, Reese, Wendy
ACQUIRED: From New York Mets with Lee Stanton, Don Rose and Francisco Estrada in exchange for Jim Fregosi, 12-10-71.

While lacking a consistency which has limited his overall success, nonetheless, for one game or one pitch, there's no pitcher who's more exciting to watch than NOLAN RYAN.

New York Times' columnist Dave Anderson once described Ryan as "a pitcher of stature with an opportunity to be a pitcher of history."

Ryan is indeed just that. He's the power pitcher of the current era.

Between a hamstring pull and a rib separation, Ryan missed at least a half-dozen starts last year but still managed to strikeout 260 batters to lead the American League for the sixth time.

"My fast ball is as good as ever, except I don't burn it as much as I used to because I don't have to," said Ryan.

Cleveland manager Jeff Torborg, who caught one of Ryan's four no-hitters, agrees.

"Nollie is as fast now as then," said Torborg. "His curve is even more effective now than it was then. He has the same Ryan speed."

The 260 strikeouts increased Ryan's lifetime total to 2,686 and placed him 8th on the all-time list.

He fanned 10-or-more batters in a game 14 times in 1978 to increase his major league record to 118 10-or-more strikeout performances.

In seven years of pitching for the Angels, Ryan has averaged 10.07 strikeouts per game.

In addition, the author of more low-hit games than any other active pitcher (he has four no-hitters, six one-hitters, 13 two-hitters and 22 three-hitters), tossed a one-hit shutout against Cleveland and a pair of two-hitters vs. Toronto and Seattle.

Yet, 1978 became Ryan's most frustrating campaign as a member of the Angels. His 10-13 performance was his poorest record since 1971 (10-14 with New York).

Ryan started by holding the opposition scoreless in four of his first six outings, but had only a 2-1 record with a 1.62 ERA to show for it.

"I don't think I've ever thrown better early in the season," said Ryan. "I usualy don't throw well until June."

Following this success, he was able to win only once in his next seven starts. And, to complete the picture, Ryan posted a 5-4 record with a 2.74 ERA during the final two months of the season.

"He's an intimidating pitcher who seems to come up to his best form during the latter part of the season," said manager Jim Fregosi.

Despite the notable achievements in low-hit games and strikeouts, there's another facet to Ryan's pitching which is even more impressive. In games which the Angels have held the lead at the end of the seventh inning, Ryan has recorded a 95-2 with three no decisions record.

"A lot of pitchers say if you can stay close to them you can beat them," said Ryan. "I think this shows I'm capable of shutting the door and I'm strong enough to finish."

RYAN CLOCKED AT 100.9 MPH

Nolan Ryan registered the fastest recorded clocking of a pitched baseball on Aug. 20, 1974 when he was timed at 100.9 miles per hour during a game against the Detroit Tigers.

The clocking was made by scientists from Rockwell International, who used an infra-red radar device and a technique known as the Doppler Frequency Shift.

Ryan was clocked again on Sept. 7, 1974 vs. the Chicago White Sox. His fastest pitch that night was 100.8 mph.

21 ROBERT WILLIAM SLATER — INF

AGE: 23
BORN: 10-26-55 in Amsterdam, NY
RESIDES: Brea, CA
HT.: 5-10 WT.: 170
BATS & THROWS: Right
ACQUIRED: Selected in June, 1976 free agent draft.

The inevitable comparisons to former Angel Jerry Remy have followed second baseman BOB SLATER in his climb through the club's minor league organization. Although he bats right handed, Slater's size, speed and style of play have reminded observers at Quad Cities and El Paso of Remy, now a member of the Boston Red Sox.

Slater stole 30 bases in 1977 and 20 last year when he was a catalyst in the Diablos' drive to the Texas League championship. His career minor league batting average of .295 is atypical of fleet and rangy second basemen.

"I just hope to continue improving all my skills, both physically and mentally," said Slater. "I want to stay healthy and be in the starting lineup in Anaheim some day."

Slater is another in the growing line of polished baseball products to graduate from the Cal State Northridge program of coach Bob Hiegert. Slater played three seasons for the Matadors before being signed by the Angels on the eighth round of the June, 1976 free agent draft.

He divided his time between Idaho Falls and Quad Cities in 1976 before moving to El Paso the past two seasons. Last year he led the Texas League with nine sacrifice bunts.

Slater helped coach at Northridge this winter and also spent a month playing in Venezuela. He is a graduate of Monroe High School in Sepulveda, CA.

40 FRANK DARYL TANANA — LHP

AGE: 25, turns 26 on July 3
BORN: 7-3-53 in Detroit, Michigan
RESIDES: Mission Viejo, CA
HT.: 6-3 WT.: 195
BATS & THROWS: Left
MARRIED: Cathy Mull, 1-14-78
CHILDREN: Lauren
ACQUIRED: Angels' No. 1 selection in June, 1971 free agent draft.

The tradewinds whistled around his family's new home in Mission Viejo all winter.

"FRANK TANANA is going to be traded," they warned.

Obviously, the rumors were wrong.

"I didn't trade him because I think he is going to bounce back," explained executive vice president Buzzie Bavasi. "The only reason one thinks about trading a potential 20-game winner like Frank is because he is one of the few players without a no-trade clause in his contract."

It's a measure of Frank's ability that he is being counted upon to "bounce back" from an 18-12 season which saw him lead the club in shutouts and innings pitched as well as victories.

The crux of the mattter is the condition of his talented left arm and the whereabouts of his once blazing fastball. He injured the arm midway through 1977 and missed the last four weeks of the season. Not until last October did he admit it bothered him again this past season.

"No one can find anything wrong with my arm," said Tanana. "Maybe all of this has been a blessing. I've become a much better pitcher. I had this strange idea I could keep blowing batters away. It never occurred to me you could pitch with finesse and not look as exciting, but win more games with greater ease."

The transition from power to finesse pitcher was accomplished under the pressure of a major league pennant race, an extremely difficult assignment according to Baltimore ace Jim Palmer.

"It was a little different for me," said Palmer, who overcame a shoulder injury to start a Cy Young Award collection. "I was sent back to the minors (Class A) . . . The problem for Frank is people will look at him after he has won 22 games and say, 'Too bad, just how good he could have been'."

Another "sin" of Tanana's was his perfect start in 1978, which contrasts with his struggling finish. He was the American League Player of the Month and became the first Angel in history to win five games in April, without a loss. He finished the initial half of the season 11-5 and won a berth on the All-Star team before splitting his final 14 decisions.

More than his pitching style changed for Tanana in 1978. In January he was married and on Nov. 29 he became a father. A more subdued, conservative or maybe even mature Tanana greeted the media.

"I'm finished talking about myself. From now on, I won't compare myself with any other pitcher," he said. "And all that stuff about my swinging bachelor days was overblown, too."

Underpublicized have been Tanana's contributions to charity, both in monetary terms and personal visits. He wants to retain as much privacy as possible for himself and family.

But the days of the off the cuff remarks and Tananaisms aren't completely gone, to wit:

"The secret to winning 20 games is showing up."

"They say if you're going to lose a no-hit bid, make them hit your best pitch. He did, a change-up."

"I can tell you one thing. Married guys sure don't get the messages at their hotels that the single guys do."

31 RICHARD WILLIAM THON — INF

AGE: 20, turns 21 on June 20
BORN: 6-20-58 in South Bend, IN
RESIDES: Bayamon, PR
HT.: 5-11 WT.: 170
BATS & THROWS: Right
MARRIED: Maria 'Sol' Rauchle, 12-23-77
CHILDREN: Soleil Marie
ACQUIRED: Signed as a free agent, 11-23-75.

A darkhorse candidate to win the Angels' shortstop job for 1979 is young DICKIE THON. The South Bend, IN native, who grew up in Puerto Rico, has the physical tools but lacks experience.

Thon was invited to camp last year as a non-roster player. He displayed excellent running speed and a timely bat with six runs batted in, but his defensive work was not up to expectations. A year of experience at Salt Lake City, where he played more at second base than shortstop, should make a significant difference.

Thon was signed out of the American Legion program in Puerto Rico at age 17. He bypassed the rookie league and reported to Quad Cities in 1976 where he batted .276 and stole 19 bases.

The following season saw him make the jump from Class A at Salinas to Triple A at Salt Lake City while hitting a combined .301. Last year he hit .257 with 15 steals.

Thon played winter baseball in his hometown of Bayamon, Puerto Rico. His father Fred attended Notre Dame University and played and managed for 12 seasons in the Puerto Rican Winter League.

EL PASO PENNANT TOPS WINNING SLATE

For the fifth year in a row, California Angels' minor league affiliates produced winning records, posting a combined 344-273 .558 log, with none of the five teams finishing lower than second place.

Manager Moose Stubing's El Paso Diablos won both halves of the Texas League before sweeping a three-game series from Eastern Division winner Jackson in the play-offs.

Righthanded hitting outfielder Bobby Clark led the Diablos' attack, fashioning a .316 average to complement a league-leading total of 31 home runs and 111 runs batted in. Clark amassed a .605 slugging percentage, second only to teammate Danny Goodwin's mark of .637.

For his efforts Clark was named winner of the Kenny Myers Memorial Award, given annually to the Angels' minor league player judged best in the organization.

Goodwin became the Angels' sixth consecutive Texas League batting champion with a .360 average.

Since California fielded its first entry at El Paso in 1973, the Angels have produced the league batting champion. Past titlists include Morris Nettles .332 in 1973; Dave Collins .352 ('74); Butch Alberts .342 ('75); Fred Frazier .369 ('76) and Tommy Smith .366 ('77).

A quartet of Angels were honored during the season as TOPPS CHEWING GUM's "Players of the Month" for their respective leagues.

The group is comprised of southpaw Brad Havens of Quad Cities (May); first baseman Willie Aikens, Salt Lake City (July); Goodwin, El Paso (July) and third baseman Mike Bishop, Quad Cities (July).

Selected to TOPPS Class A All-Star team was Salinas first baseman John Harris. Idaho Falls' shortstop Bill Springman was tabbed on the Class A/Rookie squad.

ANAHEIM STADIUM

DESIGN—Three-level structure
SEATING CAPACITY—43,250
PARKING FACILITIES—
12,000 automobiles
STADIUM AREA—140 acres

FOUL LINES—333 feet
BULLPENS—362 feet
LEFT AND RIGHT FIELDS—370 feet
POWER ALLEYS—386 feet
CENTER FIELD—404 feet

Anaheim Stadium was built with "Convenience, Comfort and Courtesy" in mind. Narrow foul territory areas and quickly rising decks keep spectators on top of the action. Gradually inclined ramps and escalators, wide aisles and seats and helpful ushers make entrance and egress as uncomplicated as possible.

Three surrounding freeways, 26 entrance lanes from three streets and 28 exit lanes and wide adjacent surface streets make Anaheim Stadium one of the most accessible in baseball. Completion of the Orange "57" Freeway has made a significant improvement as did the Santa Ana Freeway overpass on State College Boulevard, which was completed in 1977.

The stadium is owned by the city of Anaheim with the Angels holding the primary lease of 35 years. It was completed in 1966 by the Del W. Webb Company after an Aug. 31, 1964 groundbreaking at a cost of $24 million, including the giant A-frame scoreboard which rises 230 feet. It is the source of the stadium's nickname—"the Big-A."

For the statistically minded, there are 42,000 cubic yards of concrete; 7,000,000 pounds of reinforcing steel; 8,000,000 pounds of structural steel; 500,000 nuts and bolts; and 1,900 lights in the stadium, which covers 782,000 square feet. The architect was Nobel Herzberg.

GROUND RULES—Foul poles and attached screen are in fair territory. Fly ball striking either is home run.

OUT OF PLAY—On ball entering dugout:
1. pitched ball is one base
2. thrown ball is two bases (ball going in, through or over all television and photography booths is considered the same as dugout).

On ball striking guy wires supporting back stop:
1. batted ball is dead
2. pitched ball is one base
3. thrown ball is two bases

On ball lodged in outfield fence:
1. dead ball, two bases
